

NGOW MARCH 26TH MEETING DIARY

Nineteen members attended. Apologies were received from Neil Bruce-Miller, Bill Filmer, Brian Henderson and Niven Paine. In Bill Filmer's absence the meeting was chaired by Tony Clark.

Chris Feltham reported on an exchange of emails with Anita Peters from the Fairholme Gallery in East Takaka. She wanted to alert our members to the Living Wood Fair, which is to be held from 9am to 6pm on Saturday the 13th and Sunday 14th of April 2019 at 637 East Takaka Road in Golden Bay. Admission is $15 per day for adults with children under 16 years free. For anybody interested in attending further details can be found at <https://itson.co.nz/2019/18345-living-wood-fair-2019>. Bevan Walker commented that he'd been to the Fair last year and enjoyed it.

Tony Clark, wearing his treasurer's hat, reminded us that the rental for our Nayland College room has risen slightly and we're on the lookout for somewhere cheaper but still centrally located. All suggestions welcomed. Our cash reserves are currently about $4,500 and there are no plans to change the present subscription.

The April monthly meeting will double as our Annual General Meeting and Tony asked anybody interested in being on the committee to contact Chris Feltham beforehand.

No discussion arose from the diary of our February meeting or the minutes of the Committee Meeting on 12th March, both having already been circulated.

Paul Gutch then took us on a tour of YouTube woodworking sites, showing brief clips of each one. He began with snippets of interviews with ten master craftsmen. These included Sam Maloof, James Krenov, Silas Kopf, John Makepeace and our own David Haig. He then covered geographical areas with five woodworkers in Australasia, twenty-two in North America, eleven from the United Kingdom and Europe and six from Asia. The full list of URLs is appended below. They will also be posted on the Guild website.

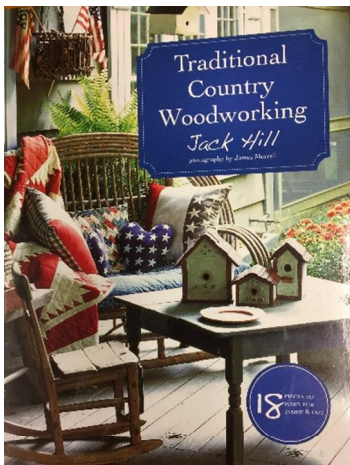

Following a break for supper five members produced "Show and Tell" items. Peter Field brought a small folding picnic table. He's also been kind enough to supply a sketch giving the critical dimensions for anyone who'd like to have a go at making their own version. I will send his drawing, plus further pictures taken from various angles, in a separate email.

Brian Kendrick showed us a beautifully carved spoon/dish, seen here from the front and the back.

Bevan Walker showed us two multi-wood end grain cutting boards and Charlie Ablett a small carved box that once belonged to her grandfather.

Chris Feltham explained that he was able to offer second hand woodworking books for sale on behalf of the Founders book fair and showed his first offering: "Traditional Country Woodworking" by Jack Hill.

The meeting closed at 9:30pm. Our next meeting, the Annual General Meeting, will be at Nayland College at 7pm on Tuesday April 30th, 2019.
